GREENSBORO, N. C., TUESDAY MORNING, MAY 16, 1911.

VOL. 14. NO. 247.

TODAY IS ALUMNAE DAY AT GREENSBORO FEMALE COLLEGE

Alumnae Reunion and Banquet and Class Day Program Are Features of Exercises--The Sunday Sermon and Address--Graduating Exercises Tomorrow.

Today is Alumnae Day at the Greensboro Female College commencement and the alumnae and former students of the college will be "on the go" from early morning until late at night. First comes the annual business session this morning, followed by the class day exercises this afternoon and tonight the annual banquet and reception will be given. The alumnae believe in business before pleasure and the business affairs will have been attended to before the pleasure begins.

The class day exercises of the class of 1911 will be held this afternoon at 5 o'clock, this being the only active part the present student body will have on today's program. In these exercises representatives of seven former classes will take part, each class displaying its colors.

At the banquet tonight at 8:30 o'clock all alumnae and former students, their husbands and sweethearts are cordially invited, as are the trustees of the college. The banquet will be presided over by Mrs. Frank Martin, president of the State Alumnae Association and there will be short addresses by a number of the alumnae. Following the banquet a general informal reception will be held and old classmates will be given an opportunity to shake hands and chat together once more.

Wednesday morning the graduating exercises will be held, the address to be by Dr. Henry N. Snyder, president of Wofford College, Spartanburg.

Baccalaureate Sermon.

The large auditorium of West Market Street Methodist church was crowded to its utmost capacity Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, when Rev. J. W. Daniel, D. D. of Columbia, S. C., preached the baccalaureate sermon to the members of the graduating class of Greensboro Female College. This was the second event of the college commencement, which began Saturday night with a recital of under-graduates of the department of music in the college chapel.

At Sunday's service the choir left of the church was occupied by the college chorus, which furnished the music, while seated in the pulpit were Dr. Daniel, Rev. D. M. Litaker of this city, and Mrs. Lucy H. Robertson, president of the college. The college girls occupied seats immediately in front of the pulpit. The chorus in the choir loft and the 175 students grouped about the pulpit made an impressive appearance to the large congregation of nearly a thousand others in the auditorium, annex and galleries.

The exercises opened with a voluntary by the chorus, followed with the singing by the congregation of the hymn, "Crown Him With Many Crowns." Then the audience chanted together the Apostle's creed and Rev. Mr. Litaker made the invocation. "Consider the Lilies" was sung very effectively by the chorus and the 19th Psalm was read responsively, followed by the singing

STANDARD OIL TRUST MUST BE DISSOLVED SAYS SUPREME COURT

Decision Handed Down Yesterday in Famous Case---Combine Violates Sherman Law and is Given Six Months in Which to Wind up Business---Decision will be far Reaching in its Consequences---Created Great Excitement in Wall Street.

Washington, May 15.—The United States Supreme Court this afternoon at four o'clock handed down its decision against the Standard Oil Company.

The court holds that there is violation of the first and second sections of the Sherman anti-trust law shown in the Standard Oil cases; and orders the trust dissolved; allowing six months to wind up its business.

No less than 1,200 holding companies with eight thousand subsidiaries are affected by the decision.

Chief Justice White Stated Decision.

Chief Justice White followed his usual custom of rendering opinions without notes in this case. In eloquent sentences he summed up the tremendous magnitude of the case and the gigantic task the court had completed in investigating it and making up a decision. His recital of the case and summing up was dramatic in extreme. He emphasized his points with vigorous gestures, raised his voice at times and rapped his desk.

Court Room Packed With People.

The court room was packed with people during the rendering of the decision, many notable persons being present. The corridors and surrounding streets were filled with eager throngs.

Judge Harlan Dissents.

Justice Harlan was the only member of the court dissenting from the opinion in the case.

Justice Harlan objected to the majority decision because he claimed that the trusts would "moderately" restrain sides had been able to agree upon was that the first two sections of the Sherman law were the basis controlling the case.

The decree of the lower court is modified by the decision so that there need not be a complete cessation of interstate traffic in petroleum and its products by the units of the combine while the dissolution of the trust is in process of accomplishment by the transfer of stocks, as per the decree.

Probably the most important proposition in law laid down in the decision is the opinion that the words of the statute, "Every restraint of trade," are to be construed not literally but in the light of reason. Chief Justice White points out that the Sherman law is not aimed at monopoly, but rather to the prohibition of wrongful acts. Both the English common law and the Sherman law seek to secure the freedom of trade and not its enslavement.

Wickersham Pleased.

Attorney General Wickersham when seen tonight was busy receiving the congratulations of friends. When asked regarding the decision he said "The court sustained the government on every point, except that it gives the company six months in which to reorganize."

Will Continue Business.

Alfred B. Eddy, general counsel for the Standard Oil Company in Chicago, said "The business of the Standard Oil Company will go on as usual. The company will reorganize to meet the changed conditions."

How the Result Was Received in New York.

New York, May 15.—Wall street was greatly excited when the decision of the Supreme Court in the Standard Oil cases was received in this city. The brokerage houses, cafes and restaurants in the financial district were crowded with brokers awaiting the news. Many relieved the tension of the tedious period of waiting by betting on the court's decision.

Means Revival of Prosperity.

New York, May 15.—Wall street believes the Standard Oil decision has laid the foundation for an immediate revival of prosperity.

SUPREME COURT TO HEAR LIQUOR CASE UP FROM ASHEVILLE

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, May 15.—The only State case in connection with the calendar for the Fifteenth district to be called Tuesday morning is State vs. Boynton, from Asheville, this being one of several noted liquor cases coming from this Mountain Metropolis of the State.

He was indicted for selling liquor and the prosecution offered to show that Boynton had government license to sell liquor, this to be taken as evidence of guilt under the State law. The defense objected on the ground that the government license was to sell at a place other than that alleged by the State as the place of sale. There was objection also to offering in evidence the fact that he was a near-beer dealer. Also there was objection to showing the possession of whiskey on the ground that this might be taken as evidence that he sold whiskey.

These are the grounds of appeal from trial and conviction below. The police justice gave him one year on the roads, the appeal to the Superior court changing the sentence to eighteen months on the road. Now it remains to be seen what will be the outcome of the appeal to the Supreme court.

Strikers and Police Clash.

Grand Rapids, Mich., May 15.—In a clash between strikers and the police today nearly a hundred were injured, some of them fatally. The strikers were employees of the furniture factories.

Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison, Labor Leaders, Released in Bucks Stove Company Contempt Case--Great Victory for Labor.

COMMENCEMENT SEASON OPENS IN RALEIGH MAY 21.

Raleigh, May 15.—Raleigh is fast approaching the commencement season for her four famous colleges. The season opens Sunday, May 21 with St. Mary's School and Peace Institute, St. Mary's graduation exercises being on the following Thursday and Peace on Wednesday.

Bishop Frederick F. Reece, of Georgia, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon and Dr. Edwin Mims, of the University of North Carolina, the annual address for St. Mary's commencement.

For Peace Institute the baccalaureate sermon will be by Dr. Alexander Spait of South Carolina and the annual address by Dr. Robert P. Fell, of Converse College, South Carolina.

The commencements for both A. & M. College and Meredith College begin Sunday, May 27, the baccalaureate sermon for Meredith being by Dr. William E. Hatcher, Richmond, and that for the A. & M. College by Dr. David J. Woods, of Blacksburg, Va. The missionary sermon for Meredith College will be by Dr. T. C. Scinner, of Roanoke, Va., and the literary address by Hon. Leslie M. Shaw, former secretary of the treasury of the United States.

The alumni oration for A. & M. commencement will be by W. D. Faucette, now with the Seaboard Air line, general offices, New York and the annual address by Judge George D. Alden, of Boston. There will be two hundred and more graduates from the four colleges.

The Raleigh public schools will close with the high school exercises May 20, the address for this occasion to be by Dr. George W. Lay, rector of St. Mary's School.

BOOK COMMISSION MEETS ON JUNE 8TH.

Raleigh, May 15.—The State Text Book Commission, composed of Governor Kitchin and State officers and a sub-commission of six educators, chosen by the Governor and Superintendent of Public Instruction, are called to meet here June 8, when the sub-commission will begin its work of examining books offered for adoption for use in public schools.

For several days thereafter there will be hearings for advocates of different books then sub-commission makes up its work of examining books for a report to the full commission, this to be completed ready for the final adoption by August 3. This is the announcement just made by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Joyner, following a conference with Governor Kitchin and other State officers. Names of the educators on the sub-commission will not be made public until they arrive here June 8 to begin work.

Washington, May 15.—The United States Supreme Court today reversed the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia in the decision sentencing Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell and Frank Morrison, officers of the American Federation of Labor, to jail for contempt in connection with the injunction suit of the Bucks Stove and Range Company.

The court dismissed the entire case, holding that the imposition of jail sentences was unwarranted by the nature of the contempt and that the District Supreme Court should have imposed only a fine. The decision, which was read by Justice Lamar, held that the case was purely one of civil contempt, punishable by a fine only. Since the differences between the stove company and the Federation of Labor have now been eliminated, the court believed the entire case should be dismissed outright. The decision is one of the greatest victories ever won by organized labor, because it involved the imprisonment of the three biggest labor leaders.

The unionists regard the decision as the turning point in unionism's fight in America. Mr. Gompers was on a train between Philadelphia and Washington when the decision was rendered.

Justice Lamar's opinion is an exhaustive one, citing many details of the case. The decision was unanimous.

No Election of President Pro Tem. Special to Telegram.

Washington, May 15.—Two ballots today failed to break the Senate deadlock on the election of a President pro tempore of the body.

Woman Mayor Will Make Town "Dry." Special to Telegram.

Hunnewell, Kansas, May 15.—The Mayoress of this place, Mrs. Wilson, said today that she would make the town "dry" or resign. Mayoress Wilson has been in the limelight most of the time since her election; and the determination she has evinced on several other occasions leads to the conclusion that she will keep her word in this case.

Gaynor's Pastor Has Resigned. Special to Telegram.

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 15.—Dr. Frank Page, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, which Mayor Gaynor attends, has decided to resign. He will accept the call to Truro Parish in Fairfax, Va.

SIX CONTESTANTS FOR LOVING CUP IN AUTO RELIABILITY RUN

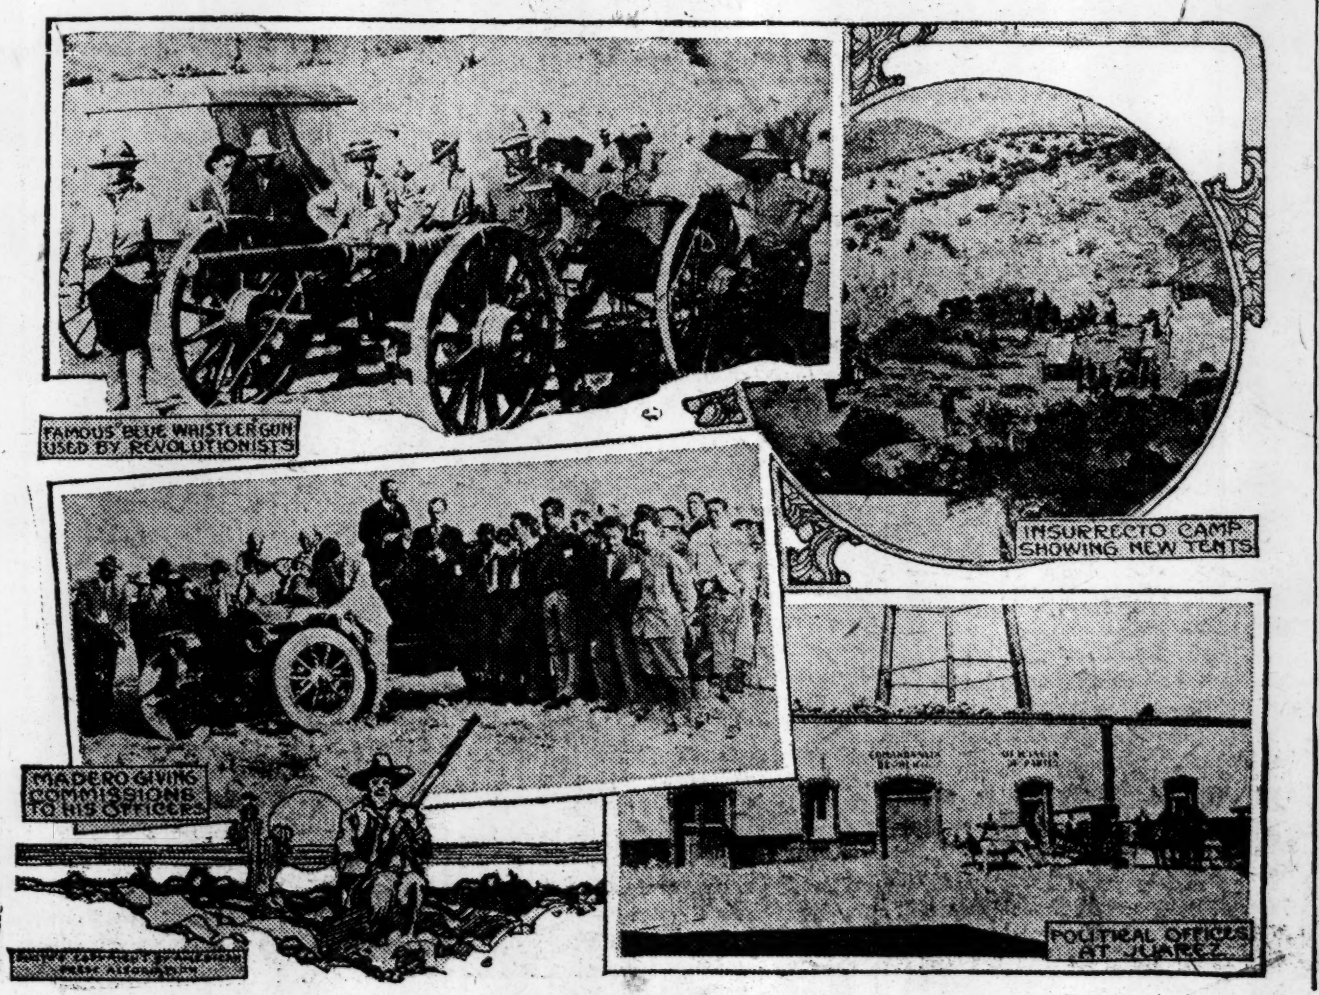

Others will no Doubt be Entered--Chamber of Commerce Discusses Plans of Tour--Capt. Fry Talks of Railroad Possibilities--Value of Waterways.

In the Chamber of Commerce assembly room last night a number of members and citizens interested in the automobile reliability contest and in the building of the Greensboro and Roxboro railroad assembled for the purpose of discussing the tour of the cars. Garland Daniel, who is to referee the cup contest, made a report and several gentlemen present engaged in a discussion of the details of the proposed trip. It was announced that six cars had been entered to contest for the cup and it was probable that several others would be entered. It is expected that several other cars will make the trip and it is believed that a dozen or more altogether, carrying thirty or forty Greensboro citizens, will go over the route of the proposed railroad.

At the meeting last night Capt. J. W. Fry, who is chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee having in charge the mapping out of plans for the building of the railroad, reported favorably as to his investigations of the territory through which it is expected to build the road. Capt. Fry showed by statistics that the country is quite populous enough to sustain a railroad on a paying basis. His remarks added to the confidence which the advocates of the road have in the fact that this line would pay and that it can be constructed through the efforts of the people along the proposed route.

After the matters in connection with the auto tour were disposed of President Hood introduced S. A. Thompson, secretary of the National Rivers and

ment's campaign against bad eggs
ought to begin with the G. O. P.

Speaking of "The Servant in the problems of life. It is vexatious of the servant is in the house and if she is not.

It is doubtful if Madero as provisional President of Mexico will last as many days as Diaz has years in the office of President.

"What is the matter with," Atlanta," asks a Journal correspondent. At this distance it looks like too much hot air.

Yes, Christopher, you may now wear
a straw hat without being in danger of the insane.

A man as accomplished in statecraft
as President Diaz ought to be able to give first class exhibition of how to become an ex-President gracefully.

If Diaz is wise he will go while the going is good; but, perhaps he is the best judge of highway conditions in Mexico.

"What is progress?" asks the new

Help to build the new railroad. It will be worth much to this city; and after it is completed you will want to be able to say that you had a part in putting the enterprise through.

Judge Dickinson, who claims to be publican cabinet so early in the game

that his resignation confirms the suspicion that he is really a Democrat.

Lots of men are willing for business to become slack in the summer time in the afternoons. They can then attend the baseball games with clear con-sciences.

It will be safe to wager that President Diaz's successor, no matter whom he may be, will not supply material for the newspaper paragraphs for as many years as Diaz has.

They are still talking about the Greensboro Commission throughout the State. Well, that is one of the reasons for the Commission—to make 'em sit up and take notice.

Asheville man had two thousand gallons of liquor in his cellar but the explanation is easy. The fishing season is on and the snakes are biting viciously out on the banks of the French Broad and the Swannanoa.

President Taft should pack his belongings and come over into the Democratic party. The Republican party is not the place for a man who believes the tariff ought to be lowered even to the extent of decreasing one schedule.

The job of bystanding down on the Mexican border is, apparently, as unsafe
as elsewhere. Several of the innocent bystanders on the United States side of the international line were killed or injured.

Granting for the sake of argument
that the newspapers want reciprocity with Canada for the reason that it will save them money on paper, it is also a fact that the trusts favor a high tariff
because it makes money for them.

It is fitting that North Carolina's first reliability auto tour should be pulled off by Greensboro. This city not only does things but does things before the others think of them. That is somewhat hard on the other cities of the State, but it is Greensboro's way.

The News and Observer says Raleigh is going to be the convention city of North Carolina. If this prophecy comes true it will be after Raleigh has pushed Greensboro out of the position of chief convention city in the State,
as this place is now in undisputed possession of that title.

Unless the people force the Senate to do so, it will never let a genuine tariff reform bill go through; and it is probable that the standpatters, like President Diaz, propose to hang on and go down with the ship. One thing is certain, however, and that is that the standpatters will surely sink with the old high tariff craft if they persist in staying on board.

Some of the newspapers are trying to find out why Henry L. Stimson was appointed Secretary of War. They say
he is not familiar with military affairs.
However, Mr. Stimson is doubtless aware of the fact that "War is hell"
and that the most successful Secretary of War is the man who raises as little "hell" as possible.

The Charlotte News alleges that Editor Josephus Daniels of the Raleigh

The Telegram is the fact that Editor
Daniels is the owner of this Raleigh machine. What explanation will Editor Daniels offer to the common people of North Carolina for having deserted gone over to the side of the plutocrats?

WHAT NORTH CAROLINA EDITORS ARE SAYING.

The Memorial Day oration in Greensboro was delivered by Col. Robert Edward Lee, grandson of the illustrious Gen. Robert Edward Lee. What memories that must have recalled to the Confederate veterans who belonged to the great army which shares the funeral of its immortal commander?—Winn-ston Star.

Says the Charlotte Observer: "The Winston-Salem Journal and the Greensboro Telegram both hurl the epithet
'dishonest' at the Congressional Record.
We scarcely apprehend a war among the three as a result, however." No, the Record, sphinx-like, never comes back. And if it did, the editor of that delectable sheet could have nothing to say.—Winston Journal.

The freight on a ton of coal to Durham is $2.30, or twice what the coal can be bought for at the mines, and yet we have been worrying because the railroads would not give us what we thought was a fair passenger rate.— Durham Herald.

Commissioners elected to run affairs
in Greensboro may succeed if the disgruntled do not succeed in running them.—Durham Herald.

Red Buck Bryan says it is an open secret in Washington that not a few members of Congress pay as high as $25 for ready-made speeches on the burning questions of the hour with

"applause" sprinkled through them.
It was broadly intimated in the press
several years ago that two North Carolina Congressmen, not now in the lists, served canned speeches. One of these bore the ear-marks of a well-known political character, while the other betrayed the style of a versatile literary artist.—Webster's Weekly.

The city of Greensboro and the county of Guilford have locked legal horns
over the question of which should pay
the costs of defendants in the municipal court who are sent to the county roads to work out these costs. It is rather fortunate that this internal dis-ension did not arise until the High Point-Piedmont episode had been temporarily chloroformed. A certain amount of difference of opinion within a county is an excellent tonic, but too much would hamper even Guilford.—

ADVICE TO A BRIDE

(By POLLY PAGET.)

Try to learn to be chummy with your husband, so that when the first glimmer of love dies you will have the steady glow and warmth of friendship and comradeship to fall back upon, and will not be left, as so many couples are, with nothing.

Cultivate a sense of humor. There are many things in married life at which we must laugh or weep, and the ability to see the funny side of things will keep you from discontent.

Don't be one of the I-told-you-so women. When your husband makes a mistake, let him down easy, and forget the incident. He will remember it with tears of gratitude.

Don't expect your husband to keep up the high pressure lovemaking of his courtship days through 40 years of dead wedding matrimony.

Never forget that a man is as much bound to have flattery as a child is to want candy. Deny him candy at home and he is apt to go to the shop down
the street.

Don't bewail the fact that your husband is not all your girlish fancy painted him. What would a perfect man want with you?

CANNON'S FOOLISH TALK.

"Irreconcilable Old Left-Over" Presumes
To Speak as With Authority.

Of course, you've forgotten it, but he hasn't—not by a long shot. "Uncle Joe."
Cannon was a candidate for the Presidential nomination at the last Republican convention. Presumably you didn't take it seriously, but he did. That's certain.

Just suppose for a moment that this hard-shelled old standpatter had secured
the nomination. Where would the Republican party be today? It is conceivable that he might have been elected,
but what then? These are progressive days, and this particular relic has not yet found it out. He would still have been trying to sweep the tide back with a broom, if the tide hadn't already submerged him.

A closer line of demarcation between the parties would have been drawn, says
some one. It is true that a closer line would have been drawn, but the inclosure that it left Cannon and his few adherents in would have been ridiculously small. The bunch wouldn't have been big enough to call it a party. And yet this irreconcilable old left-over presumes
today to speak as if he had authority and influence and to criticize Taft for "mismanagement" and question his intelligence and his Republicanism.

It would be absurd if it were not pathetic. It demonstrates the futility of Cannon and shows completely his day is past. His idea of progress is to look backward. The salvation of the Republican party lies in being able to keep up with the procession, and he seems to think he himself is the whole procession, and stuck fast at that.—Hartford Courant.

IT HAS BEEN VERY TRU-

is taken advantage of when it presents itself it is gone for-

is probably closed for all time.
The man who is alert and

ADVERTISING IS THE KEY TO SUCCESS OF MANY A BUSINESS EN-

a good proposition but unless you let others know about it,
you will reap very little benefit. No business large or small can continue to grow and attain that degree of success that it should, without advertising. The advertising appropriation should be just as much a part of the fixed expense of a business institution as the pay roll and house rent.

NEW WAR SECRETARY.

Stimson and His Predecessor As They Are and What They Have Done.

Henry L. Stimson first came promi-nently into the public eye when, as United States District Attorney, he conducted successfully a notable series of prosecutions against half a dozen of the big railroad systems for giving rebates to the Sugar Trust.
Those prosecutions closely followed his appointment by President Roosevelt early in 1906. After he had twice convicted the New York Central before a jury, the Rock Island, the St. Paul, and the Central Vermont all pleaded guilty, and the Great Northern, which held out,
met the same fate as the New York Central in a jury trial.

There followed in close succession the prosecutions of various paper combinations, and the beginning of the cases against the American Sugar Refining Company, which resulted in verdicts of guilty against the trust itself, as well as against Charles R. Hieck, its transporter; the superintendent of the Havemeyer & Elder refinery, in Williamsburg,
and various men under him. The Sugar Trust Customs fraud cases and other prosecutions for violations of the Customs laws brought $3,435,363 in fines and back duties into the United States Treasury.

The other big financial case of the Stimson regime in the United States
Attorney's office was the prosecution of Charles W. Morse, and his conviction for wrecking the National Bank of North America. Mr. Stimson was still engaged in winding up the sugar cases
when he resigned, and was succeeded by Henry A. Wise, in the spring of 1909.
He continued as special counsel to the Government until the last Sugar Trust defendant was convicted. Then came a period of the practice of law, in which he had been engaged from the time of his graduation from the Harvard Law School, in 1891.

When the Republican progressives got control of the Saratoga convention last summer Theodore Roosevelt made Mr.
Stimson his candidate for Governor and brought about his nomination, which was followed by his defeat.

Since the first of the year Mr. Stimson has delivered several addresses that attracted attention, in which he placed himself in the progressive wing of his party. In State affairs he has declared himself a believer in the policies that Governor Hughes advocated. His most recent public activity has been as head of the new Fire Prevention Bureau established by the Citizens' Committee of Safety. This work was put under way following the Triangle Shirt Company's disaster, and was a voluntary service so far as Mr. Stimson and the other organizers of the bureau are concerned.

Mr. Stimson is 43 years old and a member of the law firm of Winthrop & Stimson, of which Senator Root was a member before he entered President Mc-Kinley's Cabinet as Secretary of War.
His city home is 275 Lexington avenue
and his country place at Cold Spring Harbor, Long Island.

Jacob M. Dickson, whom Mr. Stimson succeeds as Secretary of War is one of four Democrats whom the President has appointed to high office. The other three are Secretary of the Treasury Mac-Veagh; Justice Lurton, of the Supreme Court, and Chief Justice White, of that court.

Mr. Dickinson is a big man, mentally and physically, and fought for the South in the Civil War. He was born in Columbus, Miss., 1841. He was educated in the public schools of his native city and in the University of Nashville, Tenn. He obtained his law training in the Law School of Columbia University, in this city, afterward continuing his legal studies at the Universities of Leipzig and Paris. Later he made an extended foreign trip, and returned to this country to practice law in Nashville.
He soon became a prominent figure in the State, and was appointed several times to fill unexpired terms on the Supreme Bench of Tennessee.

He was Assistant Attorney-General of the United States under Grover Cleveland, resigning when Mr. McKinley was elected. Returning to Nashville, he became chief attorney for the Louisville and Nashville Railroad. A few years later saw him chief counsel for the Illinois Central, removing to Chicago.

In 1903 he was appointed special counsel for the Government before the Alaskan Boundary Commission. He represented this country before all the sessions of the commission in London. In 1907 and 1908 Mr. Dickinson served as president of the American Bar Association.

Mr. Dickinson has always been considered a man of wealth. It has been estimated that for some years previous to his joining the Cabinet his law practice netted him not less than $50,- 000 a year.—New York Times.

Little Elsie was very fond of dressing up in big brother's clothes and pretending she was different people. One morning she appeared before her mother wearing a long overcoat and cap. She looked so quaint her mother grabbed and kissed her, at which the little miss indignantly exclaimed, "Why, mama, you're mustn't tuss me. I see the grocer, and you don't tuss him."

"CUCKOO PARENTS" INTRODUCED TO WORLD BY COL. ROOSEVELT

New York, May 15.—Enter the cuckoo parent. He or she appeared in the address of Theodore Roosevelt yesterday afternoon in De Witt Clinton High School, when the Colonel presented to the Board of Education J. C. Dollman's painting "Am I My Brother's Keeper?"
the gift of Alfred Mosely of London, England.

"I cannot express my weary contempt," said the Colonel to the parents who were present, "for the cuckoo type of parent, father or mother, who deposits the child at the school door and then goes away with the feeling that all the future physical, mental and moral welfare of the child lies in the hands of the teacher."

The big dictionary says that many species of the cuckoo deposit their eggs
in nests of other birds to be hatched.
Apparently the hearers, many of whom were teachers, knew the definition, because the Colonel's statement was greeted with much laughter and applause.

"I saw in the papers the other day,"
he continued, "that a prominent woman said, 'This is the era of women who do things.' He paused, then went on;
'She was a single lady.' The audience gave great welcome to that sarcasm too.

"If she had taken the trouble," said Theodore, "to think of what her mother
did she would realize that the mother who brings up her children well is in the very front rank." Again applause from everybody, single or married.

Throughout his speech Mr. Roosevelt made a strong plea for an expansion of educational ideas.

"The present system must change," he said, "if it is to meet the needs of the future. My plea is for a tremendous expansion of the vocational, industrial and technical side of education,
so that the children shall not leave school with a broad smattering only of all kinds of knowledge, but so that they shall be prepared to do the work of the future; so that they shall be able to do every form of work well in the shop, in the factory and in the home."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases
put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable.
For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment.
Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market.
It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the

Must Have Luxuriant and Glossy Hair,
No Matter What Color.

The finest contour of a female face, the sweetest smile of a female mouth, loses something if the head is crowned with scant hair. Scant and falling hair, it is now known, is caused by a parasite that burrows into the scalp to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality. The little white scales the germ throws up in burrowing are called dandruff. To cure dandruff permanently, then, and to stop falling hair, that germ must be killed.
Newbro's Herpicide, an entirely new result of the chemical laboratory, destroys the dandruff germ, and, of course, stops
the falling hair, and prevents baldness.

NEW YORK SPORTS LETTER

Special to Telegram.

New York, May 15.—Baseball is insured for years here, President John T. Brush of the New York National League Baseball Club has completed arrangements for a lease of the Polo Grounds for a term of years equal to the present life of the National League.

The lease was signed by Brush and Mrs. Harriet G. Coogan.

The extraordinary long lease insures the construction of a modern baseball plant on the Polo Grounds. Mr. Brush says that plans are now being formulated and that the construction of a steel and concrete stadium will soon be started. Mrs. Coogan, president, who is a baseball enthusiast. The property is worth millions as an open lot.

William B. Hayes, the cross-country rider and trainer, who arrived from France a fortnight ago, speaks in glowing terms of the racing on the other side. Mr. Hayes says that Nash Turner, Winnie O'Connor, Ben Rigby and other American horsemen are in their best form and winning races daily.

Rampart, the horse Mr. Hayes shipped abroad last year, went wrong. The popular turfman will get together several good chasers this summer and take them to France.

The resignation of Manager James McGuire of the Cleveland American League team has caused much surprise here. The team work has been unsatisfactory to him. He said he did not care to have his name associated with a failure.

McGuire has seen twenty-five years of service in the big leagues. He was once a catcher with the New York Highlanders. During the early part of 1909 he acted as scout. When Lajoie resigned as manager in August, 1909, McGuire left the Highlanders to assume the management of the Boston Americans. When released he went to Cleveland to act in an advisory capacity to Manager Lajoie. George Stovall, captain and first baseman, has been put in charge as temporary leader.

Mike Donlin, who has been described as one of the best ball players that ever lived, says concerning his butterfly life on the stage:

"It has its advantages. One doesn't have to bat 300 on the stage, and there isn't the umpire to contend with. If you make a hit the crowd says so, and that goes. Then they've got to keep still and can't rattle you by calling you choice ones when you miss a line, and they can't throw pop bottles and lemons at you when you make a bad play."

"Sometimes though, you wish the crowd would say something, and that's when it gets so quiet you could hear the pitcher putting saliva on the ball if you were standing at home plate. It's a harder crowd to please, too. They sit in their seats and dare you to put one across the plate if you can. So far I've been pretty lucky, and they haven't got me yet. The only reason is that I had a good trainer in the person of Mabel Hite, my wife. When I first went on she used to talk to me till my cue came, and then push me on before I had time to think."

Policeman Matthew J. McGrath, second great hammer thrower among the world's champions, was dismissed from the force by Police Commissioner Cropsey upon charges of conduct unbecoming an officer. The dismissal results from the same state of facts that was developed at the recent trial of McGrath for the shooting of George Walker, upon which evidence the jury acquitted the policeman of the charge of felonious assault.

The latest news about the fate of Madison Square Garden, New York's famous athletic and amusement resort in that Alwyn Ball, Jr., announced that he had secured an option for the purchase of Madison Square Garden. The option is for sixty days and the price is said to be $3,500,000.

It is understood that a syndicate is to be formed of several of the prominent firms to use the property. Who Mr. Ball represented could not be learned yesterday or what use would be made of the garden if the option went through. Madison Square Garden, it is reported, never paid as an amusement resort and there have been many reports recently that it had changed hands.

The Garden covers the block bounded by Madison and Fourth avenues, Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh streets, with a frontage of 197 in each street and 425 feet in each avenue. The floor space in the building covers 33,000 square feet of ground, but including the galleries and the addition made for the big shows that are held there it has been increased to 94,000 square feet.

Residents of the Garden City Estates, Long Island are boiling with indignation as a result of the plan to take a track of 252 acres adjoining the settlement of homes and turn it into an aviation field.

John Barry Ryan, Clifford B. Narmon and Timothy Woodruff are named as backers of the scheme, and the name of August Belmont has also been heard.

Larry F. Vorhis, a New Yorker, has been re-engaged as head coach of the Wesleyan football team for next season.

The schedule of the Brown University tennis team is one of the hardest in years. The season will open on Saturday against Boston University and will close at Longwood at the inter-collegiate meet on May 22.

Edward Fauver, associate professor of physical education, who was noted as a football and basketball player at Oberlin, has been chosen as athletic director at Wesleyan University.

According to the rules of the Swedish committee in charge of the Olympic games all entries must be in by June 1. England has already set up a howl at this and America will have a hard time putting out a team if the rule is enforced.

Coach Daly of the Williams College football team arrived at Williamstown and took charge of the squad.

An effort is being made to revive bicycle racing at Providence and a petition has been circulated for a license to open up the old Melrose track.

Coach Kennedy and Captain Frost of Yale crews were the guests of the Harvard Rowing Association. They followed the eight in a bunch on the Charles river and had their first look at the crew which they will meet in June.

Spring football practice started yesterday at Bates College and forty men reported for the early workout. Captain Cole had charge of the squad and announced that practice would continue for several weeks.

The Harvard oarsmen have chosen Sheldrake Springs as their training quarters for the annual boat race with Cornell of Cayuga Lake on May 27.

Unless Chicago bowlers raise $10,000 by June 20 the American Bowling Congress tourney will be awarded to Milwaukee.

Perhaps Our Equals.

Across the mighty ocean
Are many people strange
Who do not run their business
The way we ours arrange.
They do not speak our language
Nor use our coin for change.

These very funny people
Have blunt and oblong eyes.
They think that we are foolish
And they are wondrous wise.
The stories that we tell them
They call a pack of lies.

They look on us as heathen
And ignorant and low.
They place themselves above us,
When put us down below.
But as they do not know us
I wonder how they know.

Who says they are mistaken?
Who knows they are not right?
Are we to be the judges
To say that we are bright?
Because their skin is yellow
And ours is nearer white?

The fact is they are human,
With feelings like our own—
One heart, two lungs and so forth,
As scientists have shown.
There might be little difference
If but the truth were known.

Both Busy.

"What is Jennie's husband doing?"
"Practicing law."
"And what is Jennie doing?"
"Practicing economy."

The Difference.
A little maiden fresh and sweet
As any dew washed rose
Is playing near the city street
In lace and silken hose.

Her looks are gleaming from the care
Of nurse's skillful hands,
And lustrous ribbons flaunting there
Hold down the curling strands.

She looks across the street and sees
A baby boy and girl
At play beneath the sheltering tropae,
Where vagrant breezes whirl.

The leaves and grasses in a heap
Of waste upon the ground,
Upon the mass the babies leap
And rustle round and round.

Their clothes are soiled with bits of earth,
Their hands are streaked with grime,
Their voices ring with joy and mirth,
They have a gleesome time.

Their merry faces smugly are,
This morning they were clean,
But Barbara must sigh afar—
The street lies broad between.

PITCHER TOM HUGHES USES "BEAN BALL" THIS YEAR.

Old Tom Hughes, who is back with the Washington Americans, tells a funny one on how he was so successful in the American association last season. Hughes says his "bean ball" was responsible for most of his success, and he is working it this season. The first ball Tom shoots up in a careless manner right in close to the batter as though he really wished to hit him. Then he starts working the outside corner after driving the batter back from the plate. Tom always was a star when he cared to work and may show something in his last chance in the big circuit.

WHERE ARE THEY?

Some of the Figures Once in the Lime-light in the Carolina Association.

Wonder where old Father McLaughlin, the veteran who chewed tobacco and umpired in this league season before last, is? He was a good umpire and he was a jolly good fellow with it. He was not signed the following year by the president of the league, it is said, because he couldn't see good but he could umpire a better game with both eyes shut than most umpires can with both open. But he has probably retired from the game before now, as the ravages of time had brought him to the point where he was being passed up.

And where is old Frank Quigley, who played third base for the locals the first year of the Carolina Association? A red-headed Irishman he was and he played good ball when the season opened. Towards the last he let down, however. He began season before last with the Shreveport team in the Texas League but was released and since that time he has dropped from view.

Then there was Brumfield, the little shortstop on the team of 1908. He was with Raleigh the following year but local fans have no account of him since that time.

Somewhere in this big world Jimmie Beard is living but Greenville fans know nothing of the big fellow who played the outfield for the local club the first part of the season of 1909, finishing with Spartanburg. He was expected to hit but he didn't do it and he passed from view.

Clarence Kelly, the handsome fellow who caught on the team of 1908 for the locals, is another who has dropped from view. Kelly worked hard in 1908 but he did not set the league on fire and was forced to give away in 1909.

Then there was old "Kiddo" Walsh, the Greensboro catcher of 1908, who was a favorite with local fandom. Poor old "Kiddo," it is said, lost the sight in his other eye, and, of course, had to retire to private life. He was a good fellow and a good catcher.

Father Buesse was one of the league's old favorites, too. He is with the Rome club of the Southeastern League so cannot be classed among the missing, but where is McKenzie, the big second baseman, who played at Spartanburg with him? He was a good second but he could not hit.

Hammersley for three seasons with Greensboro is among those unaccounted for. He pitched good ball for three seasons with the Patriots. Big Westervelt, the umpire, who robbed the locals of the pennant in 1908, is unaccounted for this year. He has worked in nearly every league in the Southland with varying degrees of success. There is no love for him in Greenville.

Old Father Cote, a gentlemanly fellow he was, is playing in the Tidewater outlaw league in Virginia this year. May he see many more years of active service.

This is just a few of them who ran across our mind. Others have faded from view. Once they held the lime-light in the little league; now they are unknown. Such is fame.—Greenville, S. C., Piedmont.

LOVER KILLED IN EMBRACE.

Silhouette On Blinds Furnishes a Target for Rejected Suitor.

Brownville, Pa., May 15.—The embrace of John Bosso and his bride-to-be, Santi Petioni, silhouetted on the window blind in the girl's stepfather's home in Dearth, about three miles from here, late last night, furnished a target for Mose Fillingau, the rejected suitor. He drew a magazine gun and fired two shots. Only one was necessary, for at the first shot both man and girl fell. The second bullet went wild.

The fatal ball penetrated Bosso's back, plowed through his heart and found an exit close to the breast of the victim's betrothed. A slight flesh wound was made in the right breast of the girl and as Bosso pulled the girl down with him their blood mingled in a little pool on the floor.

Although frightened, the girl clung to the body of her slain lover. A crowd chased Fillingau, but he succeeded in eluding his pursuers.

GIRL AVIATOR COMES TO GRIEF.

Machine Wrecked, But Manipulator Escapes Injury.

New York, May 15.—Miss Harriet Quinby, the only girl aviator, came to grief today when the gear of her 30-horsepower monoplane jammed while she was going at full speed at Hempstead Plains. Her machine was wrecked and she had a narrow escape from injury.

Having gained confidence through her first successful flight off the ground yesterday, Miss Quinby essayed to go up at full speed today. She got a flying start, but in turning the wheels of the running gear were wrenched off, and when the crash came the forks and one of the wings were broken.

DOES MAKER FIX RETAIL PRICES?

Senators Ask Questions of Men Seeking Protection.

SOME LEGISLATION LIKELY.

Arizona Man Has Worked For Statehood For a Quarter of a Century and Hope Is Still Deferred—Members of Congress Talk to Empty Benches. Missourians Show State Pride.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, May 15.—(Special.)—Enough has been developed in the hearings and inquiries thus far made regarding tariff legislation to show that men are getting very much interested in the subject of whether or not the manufacturer fixes the price in selling to the retailer.

Pertinent questions have been put by senators on the finance committee to men who have been asking for protection. Usually the actual fact has been denied, but upon close questioning it generally develops that the retailer of goods must keep a standard price, no matter whether he desires to undersell a competitor or not. As one manufacturer told the committee, "The manufacturer could not sell to two men if one of them undersold the other and naturally chose the man who was secure with good profits."

There has been a great deal of complaint about the manufacturer and wholesale dealer fixing prices which all retailers must maintain or be cut off from the wholesale market. If there is any way to reach this subject by national legislation it is very likely to be adopted in some form by the present congress.

"On the Waiting List." A quarter of a century ago Marcus Aurelius Smith came to Washington as a delegate from Arizona. He hoped for speedy admission of the territory as a state. He has been a member of several congresses since that time, and each time he has been hoping for statehood. I saw him the other day on the floor of the house—he comes to every session to work for statehood—and wondered if he was to be again disappointed.

Mark Smith personally does not mean so much, but Mark Smith is typical of several thousands men in two territories who have been promised statehood for half a century and who are yet struggling for the realization of the dream. It is surprising to think of how many states have been admitted since these two first put in their applications for equal rights with the other states.

Gallinger as Leader. No one elected him, but by reason of his seniority of service Senator Gallinger has taken the leadership of the senate. He was the first man in charge of business in the senate, and that naturally gave him leadership for the time being. Senator Cullom is supposed to be the leader on account of his real seniority of service, but about all the aged Illinois senator does these days is to put the senate into executive session.

An Evidence of State Pride. Congressman Dyer, a Republican, of Missouri was making a speech in the house and had this to say of a Democrat: "Missouri is the greatest state in the Union, as our Democrats have testified by selecting for their speaker our distinguished son and first citizen, the Hon. Champ Clark. While I am not a prophet and never had any experience in prophecy, I will say that if the Democracy of the country wants the wisest and the best and the greatest Democrat in the country for the White House they will nominate and try their best to elect him to that position."

Never Had Anything. And that recalls to mind that outside of cabinet positions and senators of ability Missouri never has had much in the nation. Champ Clark is the first speaker for that state. Missouri never had a president, never had a member of the supreme court. In fact, for a state which David R. Francis has proclaimed as the "imperial state of the Louisiana purchase" Missouri seems to have failed to get her share.

Two Newlands Words. If one were blindfolded and sitting in the senate gallery and heard a senator talking about "co-ordination and co-operation" he would know that Senator Newlands of Nevada was talking. Those two words used in juxtaposition are pure Newlands language. He hurls them at the senate very frequently, and they have been entered as copyrighted and belonging to the Nevada senator.

Early Reapportionment. It is the intention of the Democrats to pass a reapportionment bill as early as possible. They want it for New York especially, so that the present legislature can reapportion the state and add six districts, all of which, it is said, will be Democratic, as they will be located in Greater New York and Buffalo. Congressman Crumpacker, who is now the only Republican from Indiana, says he will introduce and push the bill if the Democrats do not take it up immediately.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, May 15.—(Special.)—

Enough has been developed in the hearings and inquiries thus far made regarding tariff legislation to show that men are getting very much interested in the subject of whether or not the manufacturer fixes the price in selling to the retailer.

Pertinent questions have been put by senators on the finance committee to men who have been asking for protection. Usually the actual fact has been denied, but upon close questioning it generally develops that the retailer of goods must keep a standard price, no matter whether he desires to undersell a competitor or not. As one manufacturer told the committee, "The manufacturer could not sell to two men if one of them undersold the other and naturally chose the man who was secure with good profits."

There has been a great deal of complaint about the manufacturer and wholesale dealer fixing prices which all retailers must maintain or be cut off from the wholesale market. If there is any way to reach this subject by national legislation it is very likely to be adopted in some form by the present congress.

"On the Waiting List." A quarter of a century ago Marcus Aurelius Smith came to Washington as a delegate from Arizona. He hoped for speedy admission of the territory as a state. He has been a member of several congresses since that time, and each time he has been hoping for statehood. I saw him the other day on the floor of the house—he comes to every session to work for statehood—and wondered if he was to be again disappointed.

Mark Smith personally does not mean so much, but Mark Smith is typical of several thousands men in two territories who have been promised statehood for half a century and who are yet struggling for the realization of the dream. It is surprising to think of how many states have been admitted since these two first put in their applications for equal rights with the other states.

Gallinger as Leader. No one elected him, but by reason of his seniority of service Senator Gallinger has taken the leadership of the senate. He was the first man in charge of business in the senate, and that naturally gave him leadership for the time being. Senator Cullom is supposed to be the leader on account of his real seniority of service, but about all the aged Illinois senator does these days is to put the senate into executive session.

Big Quit Claim Deed Filed Here

A document of unusual proportions, in the shape of a quit claim deed, was filed for registration in the office of Register of Deeds W. H. Rankin yesterday. The deed contains fifteen pages of typewritten matter and is signed by fifty-four persons, heirs of a former owner of the property now belonging to M. W. Cammady, who lives near High Point. The document is all the more interesting because of the fact that it was signed by people of fourteen counties situated in no less than six states of the Union. There is also attached to the deed as a part thereof official certificates of the genuineness of the signatures of the signers.

Chicago, Ill., May 15.—Wheat: The weakness in the foreign markets and improved weather conditions both abroad and in this country were the factors which contributed to the decline today.

Local aggressiveness was shown on the part of local bulls while shorts sellers evidently were less timid. There was absolute apathy in the trade in the May deliver, fluctuations in that future being within a very narrow range and a light volume of business transacted. Crop conditions and news regarding the same will continue to be market influences for some time to come.

Corn: The trend of prices was lower, commission houses being fair sellers. The cash demand was slack and prices 1-4 to 1-2 lower. Reports concerning planting operations are entirely satisfactory and it is expected that prices will gradually lower.

Oats: Local sentiment was less pronouncedly bullish while sales by the country were large. General conditions surrounding the growing crop are favorable, although in some sections rain would be desirable.

Provisions: The market ruled a little lower most of the day on a fair volume of selling thought to be for stock yards traders who were long. The heaviest selling was in July ribs.

COTTON LETTER TO J. E. LATHAM.

New Orleans, La., May 15.—Washington announces that the bureau report acreage and condition of the Crop to May 25, will be published on June 2, and says that the acreage planted for 1910 has been revised from 33,196,000 as originally given in June last year, to 33,418,000 which will serve as the basis for the report to be issued on Friday, June 2, of this year.

Weather conditions over Sunday were favorable except in the Atlantic which need rain badly. There were only light scattered showers in parts of Texas and Oklahoma. Indications are rather unfavorable for the Western States with a wet spell approaching from the Northwest. Generally fair weather is indicated for the central belt and North Carolina. Indications are favorable for the Southeastern quarter of the belt, in as much as the rain storm now over Florida is likely to pass up the Atlantic Coast and in the next few days give the rains needed in the Atlantic States.

Liverpool was stagnant on old crops, spots 3 lower, sales 6,000. Our market was easy during the first hour, particularly on old crops which lost as much as 13 points against 8 on the new.

With the dry goods situation improving in our country it is quite probable that the trade demand for new crops at the discount will increase.

HAYWARD & CLARK.

New York, May 15.—The Journal of Commerce says:

At the end of the week merchants were convinced that trade had improved. The retailers reported improvement and they gave a little evidence of it in small orders on seasonal fabrics, placed for prompt shipment. Sales of print cloths at Fall River last week aggregated about 470,000 pieces of which 50,000 were regulars, sales were made on a basis of 3 9-16 but the asking price now is 3 5-8, the former figure representing the low price reached this year thus far on this construction.

Marshall Field & Co., says: The stimulating effect produced by warm weather indicates that crop conditions will be a most sensitive barometer to the activities in the wholesale dry goods and notion markets during the coming month.

NORTH STATE CAPITAL NEWS

Special to Telegram.
Raleigh, May 15.—The encampments, by regiments, of the North Carolina National Guard this summer will be held July 10 to August 10, this decision having been reached in a conference just held here between Governor Kitchin and the advisory board of the North Carolina National Guard composed of Gen. B. S. Royster, Oxford; Gen. F. A. Macon, Henderson; Col. J. T. Gardner, First Infantry, Shelby; Col. H. C. Bragaw, Second Infantry, Washington; Col. J. N. Craig, Third Infantry, Reidsville. The conference resulted in the selection of the following dates for the regiments to be in camp: First Regiment, July 10 to 17, inclusive; Second Infantry, July 18 to 25, inclusive; Third Regiment, August 3 to 10. It was decided to take steps at once for the erection of two badly needed storehouses for the Camp Glen, Morehead, where the encampments will be held. One will be for the quartermaster's supplies up in the camp ground. And the other will be out on the rifle range for the ordinance supplies.

The last of the furniture has been moved out of the Yarrowborough Hotel preparatory for the general remodeling and enlargement for the new lessee, B. H. Griffin, of Goldsboro, $50,000 being the amount to be expended in this work. Mr. Griffin was here today taking steps to have the work begin at once so that he may open the hotel again sometime in October.

State Commissioner of Insurance James R. Young has gone to Charlotte to make a personal investigation of the fire-escape equipment of buildings in the Queen City. He is under obligation to the Mecklenburg county grand jury to make report before the next term of Superior Court as to any owners of buildings who have failed to comply with the State law. The grand jury was spurred to special action through a special reference to this matter by Judge Biggs in his charge to the jury at the last term of court. Similar steps are likely to be taken, it is said, in the courts in other of the larger cities of the State.

An attorney for the Augusta, Ga., nest of Owls has written Commissioner of Insurance James R. Young making special inquiry as to the regulations prescribed by the supreme nest, particularly as to fees other than those involving insurance which the writer of the letter said they are not at all interested in. He stated that while he had written to some of the supreme officers about these matters, he was writing Commissioner Young because he feared that full, fair and frank statements might not be gotten from them. The answer of the commissioner indicated that he is not particularly interested in any feature of the Owls except that of insurance, therefore he was not in position to give the information wanted.

Commissioner of Agriculture W. A. Graham, just back from a trip into Western Carolina, particularly Iredell, Lincoln and Catawba counties, says dry weather and cold spring have delayed considerably the germination of cotton seed and other crops but that the lands have been well prepared and with recent rains and warmer weather the cotton and corn should develop rapidly. The acreage, he says, is about the same as last year in the sections he visited. The wheat crop, he says, is showing up very well indeed with indication that there will be a yield well up to the average.

The Bank of Hoke, of Raeford, Hoke county, was chartered today with $25,000 capital authorized, and $5,000 subscribed, by W. J. Johnson, J. C. Thomas and others for general banking business at Raeford, the county seat of the newly created county of Hoke, formed from portions of Cumberland and Robeson counties.

Another new charter is for the Merchants and Farmers' Bank, of Princeton, Johnston county, capital $5,000 subscribed and $25,000 authorized, the long list of incorporators including J. H. Edwards, Chas. Edwards and others.

Dr. W. L. Poteat, president of Wake Forest College, has accepted an invitation to deliver an address before the State Press Association at the annual session June 27 at Lenoir, his theme to be "The Liberty of the Press."

LIBRARY NOTES

The Librarian of the Carnegie Library furnishes The Telegram the following notes about books and matters of library interest.

In common with all other public libraries Greensboro has a very large demand for fiction. The need for recreative reading is a very real one among many busy people and the management would be only too glad to double the volumes in this department. Other attractions, however, receive a generous share of attention from daily visitors to the reading rooms.

In the spring the general fancy light turns to thoughts of baseball as we all well know and the interesting little collection of athletic handbooks receive a generous share of attention especially from our boys.

Another library feature steadily growing in favor is found in the valuable files of our city papers. Not only the history of fifty years ago, but it is the history of the past five years which is most frequently needed for business or professional or social use and can be found nowhere else. The gratification the facts thus secured have often given is the best reward for the generosity of the publishers and the care required for the preservation of the papers.

Another note of timely interest is found in the popularity of Domestic Science volumes with our housekeepers at this season.

Fortunately a splendid set of "American Home Economics" in 12 volumes has been purchased during the past year and to the excellent list of cook books two very interesting new titles have been added, "Just for Two" by Amelia Langdon and Bulletin No. 1, issued by the Domestic Science department of the State Normal College. This is the work of Miss Minnie L. Jamison and is pronounced by all who have used it the very best cook book they have ever been privileged to use. It would be fortunate if this little work could be put on sale. The library copy was bound in order to use it for free circulation.

New Officers Building and Loan Association.

The directors of the Gate City Building and Loan Association met last night and accepted the resignation of Thos. J. Murphy as secretary-treasurer and attorney, Mr. Murphy being required to give his entire time to the city. The directors elected A. A. Fisher as secretary-treasurer and Chas. A. Hines as attorney. Mr. Fisher who has been connected with G. H. Royster in the insurance department of the Pythian order, will assume his new duties about June 1. The present officers will not be changed.

Women and Society

THE GRAY GARDEN.

Here in this room she used to sit
Where, by that window, stands her chair;

Often her hands forgot to knit,
Intent upon the garden there;
An old kind face, that kept its youth
As flavor keeps a winter pear;

The soul of Easter, heart of Ruth Were hers, that helped her still to bear.

The garden, whispering through its flowers,
Spoke to her heart of many things
That helped her pass the twilight hours

With old, divine remembrings.
There she would wander like a ghost,
Or stand just where that white rose swings,

And listen, for an hour almost,
The dusk go by on night-hawk wings.

No flowers were here of gaudy hue,
Remindful of a different day;
The candytuft and feverfew
Helped her gray dream in some dim way.

Nor was there any rich perfume,
Scarlet or gold, but all was gray,
Subdued of fragrance as of bloom,
That helped her quiet soul to pray.

The garden seemed to fill a need:
Like some old love, acquaintanceship,
Like that to whom she wished "God speed,"

Who raised her fingers to his lip
And went, returning nevermore
From yonder narrow, far off strip
Of azure sea and saffron shore,
Whence vanished, years ago, his ship.

"THE CHARITY OF THE POOR"

AN I. M. P.

"THE LOVER'S SIGNAL"

ADMISSION 5c.

ORDINANCES STILL EFFECTIVE SAYS CITY ATTORNEY

One of the most tedious tasks before the Board of Commissioners is the work of codifying the old ordinances of the city and getting them in readable shape. The new charter repeals a number of the ordinances, while there are some that are still in force that will doubtless be repealed.

The work was discussed at yesterday's session of the board and it was decided that it would be a good idea to get together as soon as practical and ascertain just how many of the ordinances passed by the former administrations of the city were still effective. It has been five years since the ordinances were codified and consequently the task will be no easy one. After the ordinances are codified and new ones that are necessary passed they will be printed in pamphlet form, together with the amended charter of the city.

Since the commissioners assumed their duties there has been considerable discussion as to whether the ordinances in force under the aldermen were still effective, some contending that the new charter repealed all ordinances and that there was not a law in force in the city, other than state laws. City Attorney A. Wayland Cooke was seen yesterday afternoon and asked for his opinion in regard to the effect of the passage of the new charter and the change from the old form of government to the commission form on the ordinances passed under the old charter.

Mr. Cooke stated that he had not seen the Acts of the last General Assembly and had not fully investigated the matter but was inclined to the opinion that all of the ordinances passed under the old charter which were consistent with the new charter were still in force; that the passage of the new charter was solely a change in the organic law of the city for the future, and left unaffected the existing ordinances consistent therewith, precisely as a change of a state constitution leaves undisturbed all prior acts of the General Assembly; that a change in the form of government of a community does not ipso facto abrogate pre-existing law, and that so far as such ordinances are in harmony with the provisions of the new charter they will continue to be in force, until repealed by the city.

I desire to thank The Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. for prompt payment of policy held by my deceased wife, Mrs. Virginia Howard, for the amount of One Thousand Dollars, same being paid within four days after proof of death was completed.

A Welcome Change

Smoke curling up from the farmhouse chimney as the men are coming in from the fields, gives a pretty suggestion of a good supper and a comfortable home. But it also means a hot, tired woman, working hard over a blazing fire.

Your wife can escape this with a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

A New Perfection keeps a kitchen many degrees cooler than any other range, yet it does all a coal or wood range can do. It saves time, labor and fuel. No wood to cut; no coal to carry; no ashes; no soot. With the New Perfection even it is the best cooking device you can find anywhere.

Oil Cook-stove

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Flamed, semi-finished throughout. The 2 and 3 burner stove can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel rack, etc.

NEW YORK THEATRICAL LETTER

Special to Telegram.

New York, May 15.—Some of the local vaudeville managers seem disposed to become involved in a fight with the White Rats now a branch of the American Society of Labor. In the event of a general clash the White Rats would probably win. But no matter who might win both sides would lose financially.

Recognition of the union and higher wages are the basis of the settlement of the seven weeks' strike ending last Monday when the striking stage men and musicians all members of the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employees, went back to work, for Sylvester Z. Poli, of the Poli Vaudeville circuit. All hands, especially the employees, seem happy over the outcome of the strike, which threatened to spread throughout England.

Mile. Dazie, the dancer says she intends to be one hundred years old. Anyone with natural strength and health, she says can live to be a hundred and still retain all her faculties. If human beings could escape germs, life would last until the machinery of the body wore out. But in dwellings the greatest care should be taken to guard against the presence of these enemies. Mile. Dazie's apartments have neither carpets, rugs, matting, or floor coverings of any kind; there is no paper on the walls; no lace or velvet curtains adorn the windows; there are no upholstered chairs. She sprays the rooms three times a day.

There are said to be 800 moving picture shows in this city and it is admitted that they have cut into the income of the big theaters. It is possible that many of the picture shows will be stopped by reason of a ruling that those which have both pictures and vaudeville attractions must pay a theatrical license of $500 a year.

At a recent meeting in Brooklyn Church it was stated that there are no less than six thousand moving picture shows in the United States.

Joseph Mehan one of the pioneers of the business raised $5,000 by mortgaging his home in 1905. He went to South America. He visited all the cities and towns in South America and played to large business at fancy prices and practically without competition.

A score of other New Yorkers seeking wealth invaded his territory, but even then Mehan was more than able to hold his own because he had been first on the field. Two months ago he learned that J. Schumann and Ed Foster were on their way to South America with a tent having a capacity of 3,000 persons. Mehan sold his outfit and arrived here the other day. His bank account amounts to $75,000.

The Montclair, N. J., town council continues to taboo the moving picture. It refuses to license any film arrangement. Rev. W. D. P. Bliss, of the National Social Center, applied the other day for a license to give some ethical moving pictures. But he encountered the opposition of "The Woman's Club," the Ruth Peabody Circle, and other organizations.

John Collier pleaded eloquently that the moving picture had been too hastily condemned. But even he could not cause the council to waver. He was asked if it were not true that the picture screens showed episodes from the lives of burglars, second-story men and third-story men who were worse than second-story men, because they went further. He said they did but not for sensation's sake but to teach a moral.

The Bermuda-Atlantic Steamship line, has put through plans for moving picture entertainments on the steamship Oceana on the journeys of that vessel between this port and Bermuda.

Arthur Clough, tenor of Henry W. Savage's "Prince of Philsen" company, will resume the practice of law following the termination of the engagement of the Pixley & Luders musical comedy in Boston.

"I tried the law once," said Clough, "but the footlights lured me from it. I have just been reading of the Texas lawyer who gained the acquittal of a criminal by singing, and he wasn't a tenor either. His client was charged with murder and after a brief summing the lawyer sang 'Home Sweet Home' to the jury. Result was Verdict of Not Guilty."

"I'm going to again embark into the practice of criminal law and defend my clients in song. I firmly believe that there is no power or pathos of silver-tongued oratory that will sway or hold a panel of jurors compared with song. I have a big repertoire of grand and light operas and upwards of a hundred concert numbers from which I would have little difficulty in selecting a solo to suit any case in criminal jurisprudence."

Imitating Elsie Janis, Nat Goodwin and Bob Hilliard Lillian Russell will play six weeks in vaudeville commencing next Monday evening.

"The Queen" had been offered thirty weeks, but said "six will be all that I will play."

How is this for a vaudeville artist. Among a few of her accomplishments as set forth by her manager are these:

"The most versatile actress on earth, the most fascinating American beauty, in the show business; possessing twelve years' traveling experience in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Australia and Europe as prima donna, soubrette, ground and aerial acrobat, contortionist and exponent of physical culture equestrienne, musician, will eccentric and classic symbolic dancer, monologist, elocutionist, operatic singer, queen of posing and mannerism, character comedienne, music, mimic parodist, trainer of wild animals, theatrical producer, manager, agent and authoress."

Charles Frohman writes from England that he has not leased any of his London theaters. While he has made arrangements with several others, such as Waller, Laurence Irving and Arthur Chudleigh, to co-operate with them in their production of plays, he declares that these are merely temporary that he is getting ready to quit London.

A rumor is afloat that Fay Templeton will shortly return to the stage. I had a chat with Miss Templeton a few weeks ago and she declared that she would never return to the stage; yet some vaudeville agent hands out a story every once in a while that he has her under contract.

THE GREAT UNKNOWN

She Was the Girl He Wanted and Finally Won.

By MARTHA McC. WILLIAMS.

"I can't hear you! I won't, I won't, I won't! Anyway, I wouldn't have you if you were made of diamonds and white sugar!" Nora cried saucily, sticking her fingers in her ears, but not very deep.

Her suitor, Calvin Burrows, Esq., laughed heartily.

Nora turned her back to him. "Some people are pigs for obstinacy and blinder than moles into the bargain. They never can see when their room is better than their company."

"Dear me! How distressing!" Burrows said equably. He had a notion that he had brought Nora up and so knew everything about her. "I know whom you mean," he ran on. "It's that tiresome ninny Jimmy Dolan. Next time he comes and tries to wear out his welcome you have Hannah blow the horn for me."

Nora laughed in spite of herself. "Jimmy Dolan is never tiresome. He knows things to talk about—news and funny things and even books. You sit him down half the time. When a man has nothing to talk about, don't you think he had better go home?"

"And leave the prettiest little girl in the county all by her lonesome? Not much," Burrows said, reaching toward his pipe pocket.

Nora eyed him with fresh disdain. "You're a regular chimney," she said. "What is the saying about smoking chimneys?"

"Oh, it goes on to mention scolding wives!" Burrows interrupted. He had by this time filled the pipe and was crowding the tobacco well down in the bowl. "When it was packed to suit him he lit it, puffed once or twice, then stood up, faced the door and said: 'I shall have the paper with the birds put on the parlor, Nora, and that pink flowered pattern in the hall. I think that's what you said you'd like best,' pausing with his hand on the knob, his lids downcast, but a velvet twinkle behind them."

"You know I said no such thing. If you go and buy those taggy green birds I'll never set foot in your new house—no while they're on the walls," Nora burst out. "And pink roses in a hall—my heavens! That's just like a man. It's nothing to me—nothing in the world—but I do hate to see good money wasted, so I'm going with you to town to pick out something decent."

"I'm obliged to you, so will my wife be," Burrows said civilly, turning back to her. He had the look of one pondering a new and strange idea, but came out of his daze quickly and said, with a good humored smile: "Nora, I've thought all along you were in fun; that after awhile you'd agree with me; that you might as well take me. But today you've shown me better. I don't deny it hurts to admit it, but then I'm not the sort to whine. So let's make a bargain, right here and now—you help me fix my house up so any other girl will be glad to take me for it, and I'll do my very best to bring Aunt Rena round about Jimmy Dolan. Jimmy is not such a bad sort."

That can be said is that there isn't much to him. That won't matter in the least seeing he has money enough to insure rations for two. You—any girl—might do a lot worse than to take him."

"Why, you've said many a time the reason he was no worse was that he hadn't sense enough," Nora broke in. Burrows gave her a quick look, but went on steadily. "Maybe I did, but then you must allow something for jealousy. I was jealous of Jimmy, but I am not any more. The case stands just thus: You won't have me, not for anything I can say or do or be, and a wife I'm bound to have. It's dead loneliness living on a big place in a new house all by yourself. But I have got to get out of living by myself, and you must help me. Women know each other as men never can. Tomorrow morning I'll come over bright and early, and as we drive to town you can tell me who is worth having and where is my best chance."

Nora stared at him hard. In all her life Burrows had never made one-half so long a speech to her. After he went she was quiet for a full hour. She had teased and tyrannized over and flouted him so long, so merrily, it gave her a start to think the occupation was soon to be definitely gone. By way of getting over the shock she ran to her room and spent the interval before supper in trying on her prettiest frocks and combing her hair three ways. She wound up by choosing a blue linen, two years old, yet Burrows' especial admiration. She also decided to wear her hair loosely waved about her face.

Burrows had said it was a sin to strain it back in a set pompadour. Naturally when she stepped into his buggy she was a vision of delight—at least to his unworried yet rather prosaic eyes.

But he did not tell her so. Indeed, the conversation was for the first mile or two decidedly fragmentary. Then there fell absolute silence while the black span went slapping pace over a long level stretch. It ended at a sharp rise. Burrows reined in the horses to it and spoke to the horses in a soft, regretful voice. "They know who's behind them most as well as I do," he said to Nora. "Poor lassies! To think they'll soon have to be taking some one else to town!"

"Who?" Nora said crossly. "Of

PROPOSED REVISION OF TEN COMMANDMENTS

Doctors of Divinity Think "Inflated Clauses" of Decalogue Should be Eliminated--The Commandments as Revised.

Special to Telegram.

New York, May 15.—Now it is proposed to "blue pencil" the Ten Commandments. To the minds of some of the churchmen, they contain unnecessary verbiage and as one Doctor of Divinity puts it "let us drop the inflated clauses wherewith some ancient scribes spoiled the magnificent propriety of the Decalogue."

Here is how the commandments will read, provided the ideas of those favoring a change are carried out.

(1) God spake these words and said: "I am the Lord thy God; thou shalt have none other Gods but me."

(2) "Thou shalt not make to thyself any graven image to worship it and serve it."

(3) "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain."

(4) "Remember that thou keep holy the Sabbath day. Six days shalt thou labor."

(5) "Honor thy father and thy mother."

(6) "Thou shalt do no murder."

(7) "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor."

(8) "Thou shalt not commit adultery."

(9) "Thou shalt not steal."

(10) "Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's goods."

Just why any changes are necessary has never been clearly pointed out. Some of the eliminated phrases practically all of them in fact would seem to an ordinary man to be essential to a proper understanding of the commandments. They give the reasons for it and in some instances promise punishment for violation or reward for observance. Just what it is expected to accomplish by cutting these sections out is as I have said not made plain. As there is little likelihood of the movement becoming successful it really makes little difference.

Two more great missionary societies end their fiscal year with financial short-ages. They are the Baptist Home and Baptist Foreign societies, together handling about $2,000,000 a year, contributed by Baptists of the North. Disappointment follows, as in the case of the Presbyterian missionary societies, since the hope had been held that new interest in missions on the part of the laymen might increase receipts. The Baptist Home Society falls $25,000 into debt, but reports a small increase in gifts from churches over the previous year. The debt is in part due to excessive expenditures, which receipts did not meet. The foreign society falls $82,500 behind.

Under a new plan of co-operation Baptists got together in a laymen's missionary movement of their own, in which both home and foreign interests were united. Added to it is a co-operative plan covering other Baptist societies that is in advance of co-operation obtaining in almost any other Protestant body. Baptist missionary leaders explain that not until a few months ago did their own missionary organization get down to work. They feel sure that another year will tell a different and more hopeful story.

The home society has extensive work among negroes and throughout the entire West, and the foreign society was a Pioneer in Burma and is a leader in China missions. Baptist missions interests, together with world Baptists, meet in Philadelphia in June, and preparations are now making to observe the centennial of Judson, who laid the foundation of all organized American Baptist mission work.

The American board, which is Congregational foreign missions, reports three developments, two favorable, the other the opposite. Young Turks are making it possible to train leaders for Turkish people who will, the board believes, some time open up copper, silver, coal, and other treasures, the unharnessed water power of splendid rivers, and give occupation and food to millions of people now living in huts of mud and straw, often starving for lack of food and shivering with cold.

From an American donor the board recently received $1,000,000 for endowment of its colleges and seminaries in its twenty mission fields. Hardly was the sum in its hands before it was able to award money to a missionary in South Africa, the only school for the training of educated leaders of the Zulus. Its act will, it believes, have influence upon the entire mission work of South Africa.

Lastly the board sounds an alarm concerning its income. That income in February 1911 was $11,000 less than in February 1910, and for the half year just ended it is $55,700 short of the half it ought to have in hand if it is to end its year in August next without debt. Its actual receipts to March 1 last were $250,000 and its appropriations to August 31 next are $612,400. The board, in its bulletin just issued, states that indications point to a deficit, as has come to three other societies whose fiscal years have just ended.

The St. Vincent de Paul societies, whose charities run into the millions of dollars each year, hold their triennial conference in Boston June 4 to 7. The last conference was held in Richmond. Three to four hundred delegates are expected, and these include women. Sessions are to be held in Tremont Temple following solemn high mass in the cathedral on the opening day.

Gov. Foss, Archbishop O'Connell, and Dr. Thomas Dwight, of Boston, will make addresses. There will be one public meeting but the conference is for the most part committed to discussion of methods of charitable work, with considerable attention to personal work. Within the past few years the latter

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Write without fear as to what you feel, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

I regret to hear that Dr. Campbell Morgan's much-loved mother has been for some weeks in a very critical condition. Recently Dr. Morgan told the ministers who gathered for devotion and conference at Westminster Chapel that he might be summoned away to her bedside any moment. He spoke of her under deep emotion. He told the large audience at night that someone had asked her if he could come, "No," said the invalid mother, "let him do his duty."

SOLDIERS ON BORDER ARE WORKING HARD

San Antonio, Texas, May 15.—Those soldiers who imagined that a trip to the mobilization camp at Fort Sam Houston near this city, would be a kind of spring picnic with all kinds of fun thrown in, have been doomed to disappointment. One of the busiest places in the United States, as well as one of the cleanest, is the mobilization camp. The men are kept as busy as if they were working on a farm or in a factory. The daily routine usual in all camps is maintained and in addition to that, the service incidental to army maneuvers. General Carter knows by long experience that the way to keep an army contented and healthy is to keep it busy, and there is not a soldier in the 15,000 now in camp who will not admit that General Carter puts his knowledge into execution. No odds how muddy the roads may be nor how vigorously the sun may pour down, when General Carter orders a hike to Leon Springs, twenty miles away, the order is obeyed, and that part of the army designated in this order is soon on the move. Work—work all the time—is the fate of the soldier in the mobilization camp.

Doubtful Ways.
Little son and daughter dear,
Come and let me whisper low
In each rosy, glowing ear
Something I would have you know
Let me tell the reason why
We should list to duty's call—
Up the street of By and By
We arrive at Not at All.

By and By and After While Seem such easy ways to go
As they stretch out mile by mile
Never did draw on space
In a sunny, rosy glow.
Pause me then at Wait a Bit,
While the evening shadows fall,
Never really knowing it Points the way to Not at All.

In a Minute is a place
Where we like to sit and bask
Never did draw on space
For the long neglected sigh
Then we see, with wearied sigh
Never Was, our part of call
When we travel By and By

Do Ghosts Haunt Swamps?

No, Never. Its foolish to fear a fancied evil, when there are real and deadly perils to guard against in swamps
and marshes, bayous, and lowlands.
These are the malaria germs that cause
ague, chills and fever, weakness, aches
in the bones and muscles and may induce deadly typhoid. But Electric Bitters destroys and casts out these vicious germs from the blood. "Three bottles drove all the malaria from my system," wrote Wm. Fretwell, of Lucama, N. C., "and I've had fine health ever since." Use this safe, sure remedy

ITCHING IRRITATION.

Worst Form of Skin Trouble Quickly
Cured by Inexpensive Treatment.

When you suffer with any skin trouble, even though the itching seems unbearable, do not think that it is necessary to use some disgusting greasy ointment. Try Hoka, a pure and simple skin food, that is guaranteed to contain no grease or acids and which is so cleanly it does not soil the linen.

Not only are minor skin troubles like pimples, blackheads, acne, barber's itch,
etc., quickly cured, but the worst ulcers or cases of salt rheum or eczema are cleansed and healed by this wonderful skin food.

In order that any one may try Ho-kara at small expense Howard Gardner is selling a liberal sized jar at 25c and in addition guarantees to refund the money if the treatment does not do all that is claimed for it. Larger size 50 cents.

FARMERS PLEAD
FOR PROTECTION

Democrats Learn That Most of Them Are Republicans.

AN ILLINOISAN'S POLITICS.

Granger Says He Was Raised by Man Who Would Not Allow a Deck of Cards or a Democratic Paper on His Table—Congressman Stone Reaches
a High Flight in Oratory.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, May 15.—[Special.]—
While the grangers were pleading before the finance committee against the Canadian reciprocity agreement enough questions were asked by the Democrats to bring out the fact that most of them were rock ribbed, hard and fast Republicans; consequently the Democrats of the committee did not appear to have that sincere sympathy with them that might be expected.

No doubt the Democrats remembered
how time after time their hopes of victory had been dashed by the returns from the rural districts where the farmers had voted the Republican ticket. Perhaps the Democrats also realized how the best method of attacking
the high tariff rates was to put the Canadian agreement through in order to arouse the farmers to retaliation.
And that is just what the farmers threatened.

Williams Delighted.

It was worth spending a few hours in the hearing to look at the face of John Sharp Williams, the new senator from Mississippi and former minority leader in the house. He has always fought for lower duties. As the leading farmers spoke and protested against the high rates of duty on the articles they had to buy his face lighted up with joy. This was especially the case when Governor Batchelder of New Hampshire presented a table of comparisons showing articles that the Canadian can buy for at least half the rate paid by the American.

It was an Illinois granger who explained his politics by saying that he was brought up by a man who would never allow a deck of cards or a Democratic newspaper on his table. He was asked if that had made him a lifelong Republican and replied, "Gather your own inferences."

Populous Districts.

It has long been the boast of Congressman Bartholdt of Missouri that he represented the largest district in point of numbers of any man in congress. It has also been his lament that he represented a gerrymandered
district. His district runs around St.
Louis and has grown very much since it was created. It now has a population of 416,380. The basis of representation under the new apportionment bill is about 215,000.

But Bartholdt does not represent the largest district now. That honor belongs to Steven B. Ayres of the borough of Bronx, New York. The population of his district is 482,568.
It shows the rapid development of that part of Greater New York. Henry George also represents a populous district. It is located in the northern part of Manhattan and contains 400-858 people.

North, South, East and West.

One day there broke forth in the house a new man from Illinois. He proved to be Congressman Stone, a former schoolteacher, self made man and an all around talker. It was during the day when no one came to listen, and the most fervid oratorical flights were lost upon the empty seats.
He was especially opposed to those who called the farmers' free list bill sectional. Here are a few of Mr.
Stone's observations:

"There are those who claim this bill is sectional and appeal to an ancient prejudice in their efforts to compass its defeat. No longer will that Circ's voice enable them to keep fastened upon us a system that is opposed in purpose and spirit to every principle of independence and liberty upheld by the general sentiment of the people.

"There is a north of waving fields and blossoming meadows and verdant pastures, with untold wealth of mine
and orchard and field.

"There is a great awakening south covered with billowy waves of snowy cotton, whose annual crop would buy a kingdom.

"There is an east with its ambitions
and its wonderful factories.

"There is a west with its prairies and inexhaustible mines."

Congressman Stone fused all these in a "furnace of some great Vulcan with a mighty Odin's hammer," and asserted that all sections "cherish the same sentiments of liberty, glory in the same common memories and love
the same old striped and starry banner which is the sacred and priceless legacy of a thousand battlefields."

"That young fellow from Illinois was certainly 'going some,'" was the comment of an old timer.

"Shotgun Rucker."

"I have a notion to fire another barrel of my shotgun—I am sometimes known as 'Shotgun Rucker,'" was a side remark in a speech by Congressman Rucker of Colorado. That particular day the barrel he discharged
was pointed at his fellow Democrats.

OBREGON FORCED TO LEAVE JUAREZ

Juarez, Mex., May 15.—Notification from Provisional President Madero today to Esquivel Obregon that his presence in this city no longer was desired
by the revolutionist in the culmination of what is believed to have been general plot to influence the military chiefs of Madero to desert his standard.

A large bribe is said to have been offered Gen. Pasqual Orozco, but he indignantly refused it. Senor Obregon emphatically denied any connection with the alleged affair. Senor Obregon had been one of the go-betweens in the recent negotiations. He was a candidate for president of Mexico in the last election on the anti-re-election ticket against Madero, but the supporters of that party since then have largely merged with the Maderists.

General Pasqual Orozco was asked concerning the efforts which Obregon is alleged to have made to turn him from Madero and the rumor that a bribe had been offered was mentioned to him. In reply he declared that no fixed price
had been offered, but it had been discreetly hinted to him that he would never lack for money if he consented to do certain things.

What these things were General Orozco would not say. The upshot of the affair is that Obregon has been banished
from insurrecto territory and General Orozco once more is in the good graces
of his commander-in-chief.

OPENED WITH PRAYER

Revival Services on Diamond Starts Church Teams' Campaign.

Washington, Pa., May 15.—For probably the first time in the history of western Pennsylvania, a baseball season was inaugurated with prayer and hymns, when the season of the Three Town's Church League was officially ushered in at Brownsville.

The First Methodist Episcopal Church
team and the Central Methodist Church team, of Brownsville, marched to the park, the players headed by the pastors of the respective churches. The pennant, which was won by the First Methodist team last season, was swung to the breeze as the Rev. C. R. Harmon made an address. The players and clergymen then gathered at the home plate, and a short revival service was held. Hymns were sung, and the service closed with a prayer.

As the last "amen" was uttered the umpire walked to his place and shouted "Play Ball!" while the assembled fans cheered.

Tired, Run Down People

Greensboro, N. C.—For a long time I was so run down and debilitated that I could hardly drag around. My appetite was poor and I could not sleep nights. I had tried different so-called tonics without benefit. I was advised to try your cod liver and iron tonic. Vinol, and I am glad I did for it gave me a hearty appetite, I soon commenced to sleep soundly and I feel strong, well and more active than I have for years. Every run-down or debilitated person should just give Vinol
a trial." K. Allsbrook. (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

Exhibition by Blind to Show
They Can Earn Their Living

Photos by American Press-Association, 1911.

BLIND persons are not so helpless as those who have their sight are likely to believe. They can perform many tasks almost as well as those who have good eyes. Indeed, they do some work better because they have nothing to distract their minds, and their trained fingers move rapidly and without interruption. The Association for the Blind in New York recently held an exhibition in the Metropolitan Opera House with a view of educating the public regarding the abilities and the needs of the blind. At this exhibition many articles made by the blind were shown, and sightless workers also performed their tasks, such as weaving rugs, making chairs, brooms, dresses, etc. The Association for the Blind has raised $100,000 to be used in erecting a building that will serve as a home for the blind and can also be used as a workshop. It is intended to spend $250,000 on the building, the plans for which have been drawn. At the fair held in New York considerable money was raised to be added to the building fund, $345 being gained by the sale at auction of a huge armchair made by a blind workman and first used by President Taft, who opened the exhibition. The pictures above were made at the exhibition. One shows a blind broommaker, and the other shows blind girls binding a magazine printed in raised type for the blind.

ALLEGED BRIBER IS HELD.

Republican Taken Back From North Carolina to Answer.

Greenwood, Del., May 15.—Benjamin Conway, a Republican worker of Bridgeville, who escaped in an automobile last January, after an exciting chase, was brought here today from Wilmington, N.
C., where he was arrested a fortnight ago.

He is charged with being implicated in election bribery case at the November election. He was arraigned before Magistrate Gibson and held in $5,000

bail for his appearance before Deputy Attorney-General Jones, at Georgetown, next Tuesday. The deputy has the power to try the accused by filing an information with the court. Several Democratic leaders of Bridgeville employed a detective to locate and capture Con-

BIG LEAGUE BALL PLAYED BY PATRIOTS

With Morrissey Pitching Doyle's Men Beat Char- lotte to "Frazzle".

Charlotte, May 15.—With Morrissey going in the same style that caused him to be drafted to the majors a few years ago and the Patriots playing behind him in big league form Charlotte had no chance for the opening game here today. Walters was knocked out of the box after the second frame and Schaeffer who succeeded him was but little better. A new pitcher, Van Pelt by name, who hails from the mill league contiguous to the Queen City, stopped the run-making of the visitors, but when he made the stop it was too late. The score was 16 to 7 and yet Gate City people had the sixteen. Canny suffered an injury in the first inning and was relieved by Hargrave, and Corwin was hurt in sliding to third in the fifth, Stewart taking his place. Corwin will be out of the game for the rest of the series perhaps. His injury is to his thigh. Firemen who came here for the tournament which begins tomorrow were out in goodly numbers and rooted for the visitors. Some one called out "Fire" in the fifth inning when four runs had been made by the Doyle men, and all the ladies left the grand stand. It was amusing to see them stampede.

The score by innings:
Greensboro . . . 502 044 100—16 17 3
Charlotte . . . 030 020 002—7 9 4
Batteries: For Charlotte, Walters and Schaeffer and Vanpelt and Canny; for Greensboro, Fisher, Morrissey and Nippert.

ANDERSON LOSES TO SPARTANBURG

Anderson, S. C., May 15.—Vickery, of Spartanburg, was in fine form and his home run with a runner ahead was a distinct feature. Scanlon, a big left-hander, late of Macon and Atlanta, made his first appearance for the Electricians and was in good form. The locals released pitchers Farmer and Saultzinger and signed pitchers Scanlon, Crouch of Spartanburg, and McCowan of the Presbyterian college at Clinton.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Spartanburg . . . 120 000 030—6 9 4
Anderson . . . 002 000 000—2 5 0
Batteries—Vickery and Westlake, Scanlon and Klock. Umpire, Nugent.

SPINNERS FOUR; TWINS NOTHING

Winston-Salem, May 15.—The Twins were unable to solve Cashion's delivery this afternoon while the Spinners landed on Swindell hard in the ninth, winning 4 to 0. It was a pitchers' battle throughout, and Swindell had the advantage until he weakened in the final frame. Ten of Greenville's batters fanned, while Cashion got but four strikeouts.

The game was marked by the most brilliant fielding of the season. In the outfield Blackstone and Spencer made some beautiful catches, while Ochs got five put-outs to his credit and Mullin one extremely difficult one. Both infields worked practically perfect. Sharpe getting the only error of the game, while O'Halloran made the neatest double play of the season, by tagging a runner going second and catching the batsman at first, retiring the side with the bases full.

Score by innings: R. H. E.
Greenville . . . 000 000 004—4
Winston-Salem . . . 000 000 000—0
Batteries: Greenville, Cashion and Kite; Winston-Salem, Swindell and Galvin.

Amateur Ball.

The Ashe street team defeated the South Greensboro team yesterday afternoon by the score of 9 to 0. The batteries were Hepler and McCauley, Summers and Burge. Home runs were knocked by Hepler, McCauley and Sorrell.

DIAMOND DUST

Guess we "rule" the roost" alone to-day.

After you look at the 16 to 7, cast your optics toward the percentage col-umn.

To Lave Cross and Charlie Clancy we must say "This parting gives us pain," but we can't wait for you.

That "Fake Tony" of Charlotte's got his bumps allright.

It's a shame to take the whole series from the Hornets, but that's the way it look to us.

The mighty Swindell lost to the mightier Cashion.

Swindell has some more bumps com-ing to him when he goes up against Dr. Walters here Thursday.

Dick Smith has signed a new twirler from Danville, Va., for the Spinners.

If Charlotte uses three more pitchers today, what will they do about twirlers for the last game.

Wonder just what the frank opinion of the Queen City folks is concerning our team.

Rather too many errors on both sides in the tabulated score this morning.

The atmosphere of our elevated position seems altogether natural.

This top-roost is our old camping-ground.

All Greensboro fans will be interested in the announcement that Dr. Tony Walters will pitch the first game of the series with Winston-Salem here Thurs-day afternoon.

It's up to the Greensboro fans to give Tony Walters a big crowd for the open-ing game with Winston Thursday. The mighty Swindell will probably be on the mound for the Twins.

We have a feeling of genuine sym-pathy for the dopesters on the Charlotte college was held, the address being by Dr. J. L. Mann, superintendent of the Greensboro Public Schools. A large au-dience was present and the address by Dr. Mann was greatly enjoyed.

The exercises were presided over by Miss Julia Crutchfield, the retiring presi-dent, and Rev. J. W. Long conducted the devotional services. Special music was furnished by the college chorus and young ladies from the music department.

Miss Crutchfield before introducing the speaker made her report of the work ac-complished during the year just closing. Dr. Mann's subject was "The Four Ideals That Have Been Pursued by the World." He took up each of the four phases of his subject and discussed them in a thorough manner, presenting every thought brought out in a way that caus-ed his audience to give him the closest attention throughout. Dr. Mann went into his subject with great earnestness and he pressed his points home with beautiful illustrations.
